Course Description:

This is an off-site learning course in Singapore. We will pay a visit to RMI at National University of Singapore to understand how big data concept has been applied to credit rating. The lecture is in particular designed and supervised by Prof. Duan (now leading CRI team) and the founder of RMI. We also attend a course by Prof. Gu at LKY School of Public Policy, NUS. Also, the Taipei Representative in Singapore will arrange a lecture (by representative Liang) and host buffet lunch for our students. Prof. Lin will deliver a talk on time management and how to compactly link the 3C devices to it at the hotel conference room. The students will visit NEWater to know how Singapore strives to purify the used water.

Grading Policy: 成績計算將依照下列方式:

上課出席 (★)	50%
課堂參與 (★★)	50%

(★): It is required for credit-taking students to show up on time. Class attendance accounts for 50% of the final grade.

(★★): Discussion adds a personal dimension to the learning process. It stimulates students to more actively engage with the course. 50 points are based on class discussions and Q&A sessions after seminar talks.
